

CALL/ACBD Website Editorial Board

Annual Report 2016 - 17

May 2017 – Ottawa, ON

Website Editorial Board
Canadian Association of Law Libraries
Annual Report 2017
by Michel-Adrien Sheppard, March 28, 2017

Members of the Board are Michel-Adrien Sheppard (chair), Maryvon Côté (Executive Liaison), Susannah Tredwell, Svetlana Kochkina, John Kerr, Nicole Cork (National Office).

The essential function of the Website Editorial Board is to establish policies and oversee operations of the CALL website. Content creation per se is left to SIGs, committees, executive members and individual members who are responsible for ensuring that their sections / pages are up-to-date.

As per its terms of reference, the Board: determines policy and guidelines relating to content and design of the website, working within the approved budget. Relevant policies include a language policy and a content policy (...)

After the launch of a new, radically redesigned CALL website in 2015, 2016 was a year of small adjustments: cleaning up text, encouraging SIGs and committees to publish material in the public part of the site when possible, and general monitoring.

One new initiative to boost content was started in March of 2017. A message was sent out via the CALL-L listserv to identify CALL members who blog and tweet. The idea is to follow those members and to ask permission to republish interesting material by them on the CALL blog. This will not only increase content on the CALL website but will serve as another way to promote CALL member contributions to the profession.
